

Testimonial by Beverly Rubik, Ph.D.

I am a scientist (PhD in biophysics, University of California at Berkeley, 1979) who has researched persons with extraordinary gifts. I founded a nonprofit Delaware corporation (Institute for Frontier Science) in 1996 and built a laboratory to study consciousness, subtle energies, alternative healing, and related subjects, which is presently located in Oakland, CA. I am submitting this testimonial on behalf of Marisa (aka Anderson) Serbinov to give an account of what I witnessed when I met her in 1996 in New York City. Below I give a short rendition of direct observations of Marisa tested under controlled scientific conditions as a testimonial of her innate abilities.

While in NYC on a business trip in 1996, I visited my scientific colleague, Dr. Alexander Imich, also a PhD level scientist turned parapsychologist, on a day when he was testing Marisa in a research project. Dr. Imich had received a grant whose source remains undisclosed. Marisa was being paid for her time in documenting her special telekinetic abilities. The research involved numerous types of tests to test Marisa's abilities and strength of telekinetic power as well as her consistency in replicating effects. Marisa was undergoing a series of different tests performed by Dr. Imich, although I was only present for one of them. Nonetheless, I learned more about the other tests from Dr. Imich later on by telephone discussion. One test consisted of electric diodes which she was asked to suppress and enhance without touch, and Dr. Imich told me that she did this and repeated it successfully. Another was to use conscious intention to move a compass needle, which Dr. Imich told me that she also did. He further said that Marisa could rotate the compass needle all the way around 360 degrees, and repeat it, and that the needle would continue to do this until she made it stop. The particular test that I witnessed on the day that I visited Dr. Alex Imich was her effect on liquid methanol. This liquid was sealed in glass globes connected by a small tube attached to each other, shaped like a glass dumbbell. There were 20 such objects oriented vertically such that the methanol was in the lower globe, and they were separated by a few inches from each other. When Marisa was told to begin using intention to move the liquid in the glass globes without touching the objects, within minutes, the methanol appeared to defy gravity, and rose up through the connecting narrow neck, collecting in the upper globe. The methanol then proceeded to boil (visibly bubble) in the upper globe. And it continued to stay in the upper globe and bubble until Marisa was told to stop several minutes later. Under ordinary conditions without Marisa present, these methanol globes would only react this way when physically touched and held for a few minutes until the fluid was warmed, expanded, and thus propelled to the upper chamber. However, Marisa never physically touched any of the glass globes. She was able to make the fluid rise and bubble by means of intention alone. This is a clear demonstration of telekinesis under controlled circumstances with two scientists present to witness it.

I must also mention here that although Dr. Alexander Imich is still alive, he turned 111 years old in February, 2014. Unfortunately, his faculties are no longer good enough for him to prepare a written testimonial on behalf of Marisa's skills.
